

Assignments

Week 17, beginning 12/10/2007:

Tuesday:

- This is it, the final class. You made it!
- So hand in your ethics paper before you forget.
- And then we'll spend the rest of the class discussing No Longer at Ease so that you won't have any difficulty with your response due during the final exam period, on Thursday, 12/13, from 3:30 - 5:30 right here in this room. Remember that this is the only time you can turn this paper in, so don't email me or ask for extra time. If you don't have the time to get it done beforehand, come during the exam period and write your response in class. But after 5:30 on 12/13, I won't accept your paper.

Homework due during the final exam on this Thursday, 12/18:

1. Your two- to three-page response to Chinua Achebe's No Longer at Ease. Please remember to get your Works Cited correct and also to use citations. This is your last chance to show me that you really know how this MLA stuff works.

And then, have a terrific winter break!

