

Assignments

Week 16, beginning 5/2/2008:

Tuesday:

- Congratulations! You've made it to the last week of class and have completed your CME exam.
- We, the faculty, will be reading your essays tomorrow, and you'll find out how you did in the class and on your CME during the final-exam period, which is next Tuesday, 5/20, from 2:30 to 4:30 in this room.
- Today I'll schedule an appointment with you so that you'll know when you should come during the final-exam period.
- Today we'll be discussing a little grammar in your Sentence-Combining Workbook.
- And then we'll watch a movie, either Finding Forrester, which deals with perseverance and writing, or Michael Moore's Sicko, which is a good movie to ponder during this important political year.

Homework due Thursday:

1. Get your journal, Sentence-Combining Workbook, and folder in order since you need to bring all three of these to your meeting with me during your final-exam appointment.

Thursday:

- We'll finish up the movie and our grammar discussion.

Final exam next Tuesday, May 20, from 1:30 to 3:30 in this room:

- Come to this room during your scheduled appointment and be sure to bring:
 - a. Your journal
 - b. Your folder with all your assignments
 - c. Your Sentence-Combining Workbook.
